

How to create app?

Learning how to code an app from scratch yourself can take a very long time if you are not familiar with any programming languages or computer science.

It can take a while to code it. If you're going to create an app for the web, will you want to use responsive design to make sure the layout, fonts, and graphics look right on different devices?

```

<table width="500" border="10" _align="center">
  <tr>
    <td height="68" width="256" colspan="8" padding
    <td> <form name=login method=post action=
    <input type=hidden name=action value=login>
```
